The question of the week today got me thinking about superheroes. What are they? Do they use their powers to help others? Do they work for good? Superheroes have extraordinary or superhuman powers and I'm sure you've seen lots of films about them. One of my particular favourites is Mr Incredible. Hero's are usually people we look up to or hold in awe, so a superhero must be even better than that. Jesus could do extraordinary things like miraculously healing people and walking on water, so I think that he could be the ultimate superhero! We all need a superhero sometimes and it's good to know He's on our side. Have a great week.
