A letter from Judith Hewitt, Reader

We are all looking forward, and I am one of them. The last two years so many things have been cancelled or 'moved on', and now we are looking forward to them happening again. We maybe looking forward to a holiday, spending more time with the family, to a wedding, the list is endless, because for two years we have been waiting and daring not to look forward.

We may not want to look back, but there are times when we need to. We need to reflect on the past to enable us to move forward, maybe to change what we did, maybe to bring closure to something that happened.

One of the effects of looking forward is that we are missing what is happening today. What is happening in the world around us, to our family, in our gardens, in fact what is happening wherever you are right now.

We could be missing that important conversation, that visit to someone we keep putting off, that walk out into the garden to see what is happening.

Many of us go to Church on Palm Sunday, leaving with Jesus riding into Jerusalem on a donkey. Palm Sunday is the beginning of the last week of Jesus' life here on earth. We shouldn't then be 'looking forward' to Easter Sunday, but walking each day of Holy Week with Jesus, through the events of the Last Supper and Good Friday, we will then really be able to celebrate His resurrection on Easter Sunday.

We look forward to celebrating Easter with you.

Judith

Easter

Friends,

In a couple of weeks we shall be celebrating the great feast of Easter. For some this will be in churches, others at dawn in a field, and for many it will be chicks, bunnies and chocolate. But with all that is happening in Ukraine at the moment (it is mid-March as I write, so things may be better, but probably not), it feels awkward to be celebrating anything at all. When small things go badly we are now used to the phrase, 'First World problems' – minor inconveniences compared to the scale of difficulties faced by many. But Ukraine is a First World problem, a near European neighbour, a doorstep catastrophe.

Feasting in the face of fighting seems unseemly, as we take Easter holidays and share Easter gifts, eating Easter food with Easter friends. Darkness creeps into Europe once again, thanks to the ego and corruption of one man. But there is a journey to take first before we celebrate, and Easter is not a festival in denial of all that is wrong, but a banquet in the midst of all that is wrong. To arrive at the resurrection, that death-defying feat by Jesus, we first pass through the devastation of that death, and the silence of the grave and God.

This is not to preach, but I want to recognise that this is the cycle which we all encounter in life. Life is arrived at through death, not despite it. The seed falls into the ground and dies before bearing new life. The sun must set before it can be reborn the next morning. Our egos must first learn to die a little before we can truly love. The cycle is universal, but retold to the universe through one man. In the midst of violence and death and fear there is one great act of defiance, which is to choose life, light and love. This is the meaning of Easter, that, in the end, Love Wins, truth endures, light overcomes darkness, and we get to choose.

Whatever stage of war we are at in mid-April, whatever the news or the effect on our personal circumstances, I invite you to celebrate Easter to the full. Not necessarily because you believe in someone from 2000 years ago, but because you believe in all humanity and the need to live in the light of love and peace, rather than the darkness of hatred and oppression. Easter is a response which subverts the tyrant by answering with hope. Though it may feel like Good Friday, we can still expect the dawn to come and the sun to rise, because there are those who choose to believe that, in the end, all shall be well.

Nick Bird,

Your Rector

Voluntary Churchyard Organiser wanted!

Are you interested in managing village greenspace for people and nature? St Nicholas Church, Dunnington needs you! As part of the Church's plans to become an EcoChurch, we are seeking a new organiser to coordinate a team of volunteers and help develop the churchyard to increase the shared use of the land by both people and nature. We have a vision for a vibrant, living churchyard that encourages all members of the village community to spend time remembering their loved ones and enjoy God's creation in the heart of the village. The natural value of traditional churchyards is only now being recognised, and at St Nick's nature needs a sensitive hand to create a shared space for reflection and creation. If you would like to help shape and implement this vision that honours and enables the values of all users of the churchyard, we'd like to hear from you! Please contact Rev Mark Poole for further details: revmarkpoole20@gmail.com.

Health Walks

The Health Walks are held every Tuesday morning, come wind or weather, starting at 10.30 at Holtby Church on the first Tuesday of every month

Dunnington Cross Keys every Tuesday except the first in the month.

The walks are of about 3.5 miles, and take about one and a half hours.

Favourite tree?

Some people have a favourite tree, but some find it difficult to choose, because they like so many.

One that you may not have heard much of is the Alder Buckthorn (Frangula alnus), a version of the ordinary alder – alnus glutinosa. This is surprising, because it has excellent credentials:

- It is very versatile, thriving in a variety of soil types and locations
- It harbours thousands of insects and wild life
- It attracts the very useful and beautiful Brimstone butterfly, and is loved by a range of pollinators
- It is hermaphrodite, meaning that male and female reproductive parts are contained within the same flower.
- Its hard wood can be used for the manufacture of shoes, tool handles and arrows
- It can be used in the manufacture of pigments and dyes.
- It has beautiful white flowers in the spring and berries that go from green to red to black, and are the favourite fruit of thrushes
- It can be used to make gunpowder, poison or a cure for headaches
- And – no connection - it can be used as a laxative.
- It keeps away witches and spirits – although it's not easy to see how this could be useful in our Benefice.

Holtby Prize Draw

The winner in February was David Butler-Adams – No.1

Thank you to everyone who regularly takes part in the draw by paying their yearly subscription.

If anyone would like to join then please contact Rosalie Butler-Adams at the Old Rectory behind the church.

Tips to keep your improve your online security

Update your devices

Out-of-date software, apps, and operating systems contain weaknesses. This makes them easier to hack.

Companies fix the weaknesses by releasing updates. When you update your devices and software, this helps to keep hackers out.

Turn on automatic updates for your devices and software that offer it. This will mean you do not have to remember each time.

Some devices and software need to be updated manually. You may get reminders on your phone or computer. Do not ignore these reminders.

Updating will help to keep you safe online.

Back up your data

Backing up means creating a copy of your information and saving it to another device or online.

Backing up regularly means you'll always have a recent version of your information saved. This will help you recover quicker if your data is lost or stolen.

You can also turn on automatic backup. This will regularly save your information into cloud storage, without you having to remember.

If you back up your information to a USB stick or an external hard drive, disconnect it from your computer when a back up isn't being done.

Dunnington WI

At our March meeting 40 members and 6 guests listened to Maureen Poulton tell us about the amazing work of Hearing Dogs for the Deaf and how they are "Helping deaf people to leave loneliness behind". She described in detail how they are trained and this was then brilliantly demonstrated by Beck, who is an accredited hearing dog, who stole all our hearts. Grahame (his handler) did a great side line in showing us how clever they are. It costs £25,000 to train a dog and £45,000 over their lifetime.

I learnt that 1:6 people have some hearing loss and 50,000 of those are children. I'm sure many of us can think of individuals we know who would have benefitted greatly from this service, it is good we were helping them continue by sharing their story. They do not get state funding and we were delighted to not only give them our usual fee for the evening but add more from our usual raffle and with the sales from the merchandise they brought along, Maureen went away happy, as did all of us.

The competition was for "A bell" and the winning entry was brought by Greta Wordsworth.

Our next meeting is on 5th April at 7.15pm when Vanessa Lee and The Dunnington Community Choir are joining us with, "We've Got Rhythm". I think we will also catch this rhythm by joining in. No recording allowed!

Please note our April Tea and Cake, with Children's activities has been cancelled due to the unavailability of the hall.

Everyone welcome at the following one in May when we play board games.

Chris Bayne

Seasons - by June Rickell

Well we haven't had a Winter
And it's not been quite a Spring
So it must have been a Sprinter
Or some such thing.

We've had some lovely sunshine
And we've had a bit of rain
A few flakes of snow came down
Then disappeared again.

I know Old Mother Shipton
Said the seasons would all change
And it's happened in my lifetime
It's all so very strange.

So now we wait for summer
To see what happens next
The birds are equally confused
'When should we build our nests?'

And when we head for summer
Just what clothes should we wear
A vest or woolly jumper?
It leaves me in despair.

But I know whatever happens
The Man upstairs will know
The world will keep on turning
And we'll just go with the flow.

2004 - 2022

It has been a challenging couple of years with not being able to do very much but it has also been hard to get sufficient committee members and volunteers. It is with regret due to insufficient support we have decided to call time on Dunnington Community Events.

The Stockton Foresters Drama Group

The village drama group has been going since the 1930s, surviving both a world war and a global pandemic. Why not think about joining us – you'll be in great company!

We meet every Tuesday evening in the village hall from 7.30pm and, depending on what stage we're at with our production, we'll be reading-through, rehearsing, set-building, props-sourcing, tea-drinking and generally having a lot of fun! We welcome new members not only from the village but also from surrounding areas. You don't need to have any experience, just a willingness to join in. You might be interested in backstage, acting, prompt, costumes, front of house, publicity or tech. Whatever your interest, you'll be assured of a warm welcome.

From 12-14th May we're going to be performing "A Bunch of Amateurs", a hilarious comedy written by Ian Hislop and Nick Newman. The rehearsal process is now well underway, but please don't let that put you off coming along to see for yourself what it's all about. Although the acting parts have been cast, there is still plenty of time to get involved in all other aspects of the show.

We are a very sociable "bunch of amateurs" and often finish off a Tuesday evening with a drink in The Fox, the village pub. We also support other local drama groups and organise nights out to see other productions. The fact that we came out of successive lockdowns with an intact group is in no small part due to weekly Zoom get-togethers and a determination to get back on stage.

Have a look here <http://www.stocktonontheforest.org.uk/index.php/groups/groups-foresters> to see some photos from previous productions. We often favour light-hearted comedies, but we also love a good murder mystery. We are also on Facebook to keep everyone updated on our shenanigans! If you'd like to have an informal chat about the group, please feel free to call Moira (400583) or Karen (400122), or simply pop along to the village hall one Tuesday evening. We look forward to seeing you.

Tuesday Cycle Rides

The small group of cyclists go out on the 2nd Tuesday of the month leaving the Cross Keys at 10-30am for a ride of approximately 10 to 20 miles sometimes on rough tracks, however there is usually an alternative road route.

Tuesday 8th March - We had a good ride to Naburn to the Vegan cafe next to the lock. It was a bit too chilly to sit outside, maybe next time!

Tuesday 12th April - after a ride around the local country Lane we will head to York Livestock Centre for refreshments.

All rides are subject to change on the day depending on weather conditions.

Helmets and bright clothing are recommended, please bring a spare inner tube in case of puncture, ride at your own risk. Do come & join us.

You are welcome to join us if you have an e bike.

If you need further information please contact us on either of the numbers below.

DUNNINGTON IN BLOOM/FRIENDS OF HAGG WOOD

Showing Solidarity with Sunflowers - Dunnington in Bloom

As the national flower of Ukraine, the sunflower has become their symbol of resistance. You may have seen a viral video in which a Ukrainian woman confronts a Russian soldier and tells him to put sunflower seeds in his pocket. Politicians and celebrities have been wearing sunflowers to show support for Ukraine and protesters have featured sunflowers on their placards.

So, this Spring we've been sowing sunflower seeds. Like to join in? You'll need some small pots, soil (or peat-free seed compost) and a packet of sunflower seeds. If you don't have any small pots, paper ones will do – there are lots of 'how to' videos on making pots online. Just poke a hole in your soil a little deeper than the length of the seed (about 1.5cm depth), pop the seed in, gently cover over with soil, water and place on a sunny windowsill. Water regularly but take care not to over-water when just seedlings, especially if using paper pots! When the young plants are about 30cm tall, you can plant them out in a sunny, sheltered spot, or into a larger pot if you don't have a patch of ground. If you've chosen a tall variety, you'll need to loosely tie your flower to a cane for support.

When your sunflower blooms, you might like to think of this quote from the film 'Calendar Girls':

"I don't think there's anything on this planet that more trumpets life than the sunflower. For me that's because of the reason behind its name; not because it looks like the sun, but because it follows the sun. During the course of the day the head tracks the journey of the sun across the sky... Wherever light is, no matter how weak, these flowers will find it, and that's such an admirable thing and such a lesson in life."

Some link sunflowers with a Maori proverb - 'turn your face to the sun and the shadows fall behind you'.

Friends of Hagg Wood

What a delight it is to walk in Hagg Wood and listen to the chorus of the birds singing again, hoping to attract a mate. Although the paths have been very muddy in places during the last few weeks, especially the access path from Hagg Lane, it is still well worth the effort to enjoy the sights that Spring brings to the wood. The hazel catkins have been full of pollen and blowing in the breeze for several weeks now. The snowdrops near the notice board at the start of the Stone Road never fail to appear each year no matter what the winter conditions have been. Their numbers are increasing year on year. The primroses will be emerging soon, especially along the banks of the ditches.

The storms we experienced in February, namely Dudley, Eunice and Franklin, managed to fell two or three trees in Hagg Wood, but only the one at the entrance to the Breathing Place area is causing an access problem which hopefully will be removed soon by Forestry contractors.

The green shoots of the bluebell leaves have been visible for some time now. In many previous years, the Friends of Hagg Wood would have had several work parties to clear brambles that try to dominate in the main bluebell area. Unfortunately, we have been unable to carry out this work for the last two years, but hopefully there will still be a beautiful display of bluebells in late April and May. Perhaps by then the paths will be drier, making access to the wood less difficult.

For anyone not familiar with the current access to Hagg Wood, details can be found on our website www.fohw.org.uk under the heading "Is Hagg Wood Open?" alongside our other news. Our website <https://haggwood.wordpress.com/contact/> also provides the opportunity to get in touch. The Easter school holidays should offer a golden opportunity to visit the wood. We hope you will not be disappointed.

YOUR PARISH PRECEPT EXPLAINED

With council tax bills for 2022/2023 due out shortly this seems a good opportunity to write about the Parish precept.

The Parish precept is the council tax that the billing authority (City of York Council) collects on behalf of the Parish Council. The precept is calculated as part of the Parish Council's budget. It is the difference between the Parish Council's expenditure and its estimated income. Parish Councils do not receive any direct funding from central government and so the precept is an important part of a Parish Council's income.

At Dunnington Parish Council's meeting held on the 10th January 2022 it was agreed to request a precept of £41,878.00 for 2022/2023. The percentage increase for Dunnington Parish Council listed on your council tax bill refers to the increase paid by the council tax payer not the increase in the overall precept amount requested by Dunnington Parish Council. For example, a Band D property:

The Band D charge is calculated as the precept divided by the tax base (the number of Band D equivalent properties in the Parish as calculated by the City of York Council).

Tax Base for 2022/2023 is 1368.1, precept is £41,878 so Band D charge is £41,878/1368.1 = £30.60

So, for a Band D property the Dunnington Parish Council precept paid by a council tax payer for 2022/2023 will be £30.60 per annum or £0.59 a week approximately. This much needed income allows Dunnington Parish Council to provide local residents with numerous services throughout the village (salt bins, grass cutting of Parish land, landscaping, street furniture to name a few) and to help support a number of local amenities (such as the Cemetery, Play Park, Hassacarr Local Nature Reserve, the Scouts and Guides, the Sports and Social Club, and the Reading Room).

Going forward Dunnington Parish Council intends to build upon some of the initiatives that have already been started such as the pollinator projects, the establishment of a tree and hedge planting and maintenance program. Work is in hand to commence on Phase 2 of the cemetery, before the existing cemetery is full, ready for use in 2023. We will be picking up the Neighbourhood Plan where we left off in 2020 which unfortunately, whilst at an advanced stage, was held up due to the pandemic. We will also continue to be involved with the York Local Plan especially with regard to the Green Belt. Work will also continue on addressing our concerns regarding the proposed housing development on Eastfield Lane. We will also continue pursuing City of York Council in respect of lowering of the speed limit on York Road and parts of the A1079 together with other speed related initiatives. We have already successfully formed an Allotment Group which includes some plot holders and we will look to extend and encourage residents to get involved with other Groups. We hope that this gives you a flavour of the range of the many activities that we get involved with and that we provide local residents with good value for money.

We said last year that we would have to raise the Parish precept this year because it does not cover the amount that is spent in the year and we have been taking the difference from our reserves. Unfortunately, this can't go on any longer and Dunnington Parish Council must raise the Parish precept in order to protect those reserves. However, we will continue to strive to maintain the high standards that local residents have come to expect.

All the above-mentioned items have been discussed at our monthly Parish Council meetings, which members of the public are welcome to attend, and the agendas and minutes can be found on the Parish Council website.

THE BIRDS IN YOUR GARDEN

Garden Bird Health

Courtship Feeding

Whilst reading Mike Tom's book "Garden Birds" which my daughter gave me for Christmas, I came across a springtime activity of which I was vaguely aware, but knew little – Courtship Feeding. As a human activity it most likely means taking someone you fancy to a good restaurant, but in the bird world it's a little more complicated (or maybe not!)

Many male birds provide food for their mates as part of pair bonding, hence the name courtship feeding. In reality though, it is something of a misnomer occurring most frequently when true courtship is over, and continuing during egg formation, laying and incubation. It is a valuable source of nutrients for the female. In Blue Tits, for example, males can provide up to 40% of a female's total food intake in the period leading up to laying. Early hatching has a positive effect on the success rate of breeding in some species and the provision of extra nutrients may well be a primary driver of this behaviour. It could also be that the male bird brings food to the female to demonstrate how well he could provide for any chicks she may produce.

The female solicits food from the male by uttering a sharp, monosyllabic call, by partly lowering her wings and then quivering excitedly. Her demeanour being very much that of a fledgling Robin soliciting food from its parents.

In a few species, notably some finches and gulls, the male regurgitates food for the female, as he would when feeding young. Any discussion about birds and courtship has to include the Woodpigeon somewhere, let's face it, they never stop, and they too indulge in courtship feeding in this way, though it's not something you often see.

In your garden you are most likely to see courtship feeding between Robins. When a female finishes building a nest, her mate starts bringing her food. He does this several times a day, and increasingly often, as incubation progresses. This has many advantages in that the female is kept in better physical condition during the energetically demanding egg formation period, and then during incubation has less need to leave the nest to feed, reducing the chances of being predated both for herself and for her eggs. Nearer the end of incubation, she may receive almost all her food from her mate.

Most of us have Robins in and around our gardens, and they are more common than you might think in most woodland edges and hedges, so there's good chance that you might see the initial stages of courtship feeding. If you are lucky enough to know the whereabouts of a nest that you can watch without disturbing its occupants, patience may well be rewarded by first-hand observation of the male bringing food for his mate.

If you are interested in garden birds and would like to join in and count the feathered occupants of your garden, please contact me or visit the British Trust for Ornithology's Garden BirdWatch website (www.bto.org/gbw). If you know of an organisation no more than 30 miles from York which would like a talk on garden birds, please contact me via gbwmike@gmail.com.
